

“By honors, medals, titles no true man is elevated. To realize that which we are, this is the honor for which we are created.” –Angelus Silesius

If you could have a single button beside your bed that did one thing, what would you want it to do? Explain.....